Hi Rebecca, I wanted to reach out to you about our company and our ability to treat and clean water from polluted sources. I realize you are in the middle of spill control but I believe we could be of some help. Billie passed along your response about being an EPA vendor which we currently aren't but we are registering today. Please let us know if we can be of assistance with your current situation.

Todd,

Rebecca Broussard with the EPA just called to explain that they are engaged with contractors who were already registered with the EPA to receive government bidding, and that it was too late to become engaged on the Animas project if you are not registered with them as a vendor.

However, if you are already registered with the EPA it was supposed to be automatic that you received a bidding opportunity. If you didn't I would call her and demand a bid package be sent. 1-844-607-9700 She explained that if you are not currently enrolled as a vendor for the government, you can do so, but it is a long process. Just go to their website and it will walk you through the process.

Todd,

I spoke with the EPA administrator over the project in Colorado, New Mexico and the Navajo Nation, and he's getting someone from what he called the "back office" to call me back shortly - I'll give them your information at that time.
